

Safety Policy

The effectiveness and success of APL Kwikform Pty Ltd ('APL Kwikform') in Australia is dependent upon the people employed. Care for the safety and health of employees is a priority duty in APL Kwikform.

In the discharge of this duty:

- Managers will be responsible for the Occupational Health and Safety of people under their control
- Skilled and competent supervision will be provided for all work
- All equipment supplied and to be used in the course of work will be in safe and proper order.
- Training and re-training will be provided for all employees to ensure conformance to APL Kwikform and Statutory standards.
- All Statutory Standards will be met.
- All accidents and injuries will be recorded and reported.
- An accident investigation system will be applied to identify casualty factors and establish corrective action.
- Inspection programs will be established for all work sites. All deficiencies will be reported and corrected.
- Protective clothing and equipment will be provided and maintained for use in accordance with good practice and regulatory standards.
- An effective Post-injury Control procedure will be implemented.
- All design, development and requests for capital expenditure will reference Occupational Health and Safety.
- Safety communication will exist throughout the company and with the main contractor and, where applicable, Safety Committees will form part of APL Kwikform's Safety Management Plan.
- All employees will work with consideration of their own safety and the safety of others.
- Resources will be applied to implement this policy.

Rod Mill
Executive General Manager

1st July 2007